

Iron Athletes L.L.C. purchases Ironman Football League

Ironman Football League announced today the purchase of the league by Iron Athletes, L.L.C. It is under the joint management of Tom Hawkins and Sean Burke. Mr. Hawkins has had experience with the league since 2006, when he founded the Blue Devils. He takes great pride in his ownership and management of this team. He has been part of the Burlington community for many years and looks forward to working with other communities for business and outreach opportunities. Iron Athletes, L.L.C. also welcomes Sean Burke as a co-manager. Sean comes to the league with over seven years of advertising and marketing experience and a breadth of knowledge for start-up and small businesses.

The new management is excited to work with all of the existing members and to grow membership and support in the communities. The co-managers noted that their visions for the future of Iron League, L.L.C include, “Expansion, better communication with teams and an all round better experience for players, staff, owners and the fans.” The new owner and managers look forward to all of the opportunities and collaboration that this purchase will bring.

The new owners, Iron Athletes, L.L.C., would like to thank the previous owners of Ironman Football League for all of their hard work and dedication to the league. The special thank you is for Chris Chudada, Pete “Pudge” Narrai and Jordan Kopac. Their love of the league will be continued and honored. The transition of ownership will be assisted by Pete “Pudge” Narrai and Jordan Kopac to ensure that it is smooth and easy. Thank you again to the previous owners for all the wonderful years!
